Volume VII

Number 3

April 23, 1975

Yes. This is the issue devoted to our classmates who serve the public -- our Doctors and Lawyers. We'll provide you with enough names and addresses that you should have no difficulty in locating a congenial and qualified sixty-six in your own area to remove the most stubborn splinter or handle the most ticklish parking ticket.

But first, Reunion. "Sixty-Six to the Tenth," for social science majors like me who needed translation, is our Tenth Reunion celebration, and will take place on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 13 to 15. Yes, it's our tenth celebration. And yes, it's only our ninth year out. Reason -- we can share the occasion with the Classes of 1965 (10th in 10th) and 1964 (10th in 11th). Another reason -- obvious economies and efficiencies up at Dartmouth. Still another reason -- any excuse to get back to Hanover with old friends is welcome.

What does it really cost. Well, if you're going with just one roommate, and you arrive on Friday, leave Sunday, the whole weekend would cost $123 for both of you. That's $95 for all the entertainment, music, all meals, open bar, concerts and comraderie; $28 for two nights in a well-appointed dorm room. If you're coming alone and stay in a dorm its $64. Each child over 5 partakes of a full weekend children's program for $30, and stays in your room for $5 per night.

If you live in the Northeast and can drive up, it'll take about two tanks full of gas. Avoid all tolls. So a couple can spend a three-day weekend in comfortable surroundings, with tennis and golf, unlimited beverages, all meals, free entertainment, plenty of fun and a touch of nostalgia for about $150. (Beat that Grossingers.) Put your deposit in the enclosed envelope before the impact of this sales presentation wears off.

One more piece of Reunion business. At each Reunion the class selects an 11 man Executive Committee which is the active class governing body until the next Reunion. Class Officers are drawn from the Executive Committee membership. Nominations to the Executive Committee (and self-nomination is indeed encouraged) should be sent to the Nominating Committee Chairman:

Doug Scarff
53 Wall Street
New York, New York 10005

In truth, due to the depth of talent in the Class of 1966, we currently have a 19 man Executive Committee, proving that we have 73% more politicians than an average class. Besides the five guys who get their names above the masthead -- Ryan, Geiger, Paul, Loring and Kline, the current Executive Committee roster includes, in what should be close to alphabetical order:

Paul Babcock
Dick Blacklow
Ed Dailey
Rich Daly
Bill Duval
Jeff Futter
Doug Greenwood

Bill Higgins
Russ Kulp
Steve Lanfer
Terry Lowd
Hector Montroni
John Pearson
Doug Scarff

The Lawyers

What more logical place to start a run down of our lawyers than Washington, where many of those laws they interpret come from. Larry Simms is Law Clerk to Associate Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Byron R. White, but he's even prouder of Anna Melissa, born last fall. Larry witnessed and assisted at the natural childbirth, and recommends it highly. Larry's plans for the immediate future are uncertain, but will include some baby sitting since Beth Simms will begin her senior residency in internal medicine at Washington Hospital on July 1st. The Simms live at 217 B 10th St., SE, Washington, 20003.

Rick and Jennifer Reed head for the Capitol from 11605 Shenorock St., Gaithersburg, Maryland every morning. Rick checks into the Appellate Section, Criminal Division of the Justice Department and Jennifer drives to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, where she is staff assistant to Secretary James T. Lynn.

Gus and Edie King are busy too. Gus is Legislative Counsel to William Hathway, the freshman Senator from Maine who defeated Margret Smith, and is also Counsel to the Senate Subcommittee on Alcoholism and Narcotics. Edie, who works out of 11148 Forest Edge Dr., Reston, Va. 22090, is special counsel to Angus III, 4, and Duncan, 2.

Dan Gulden is back at 625 A Street, SE, Washington and back at the Chief Counsel's Office of the Internal Revenue Service. A good man to know now. Dan and Robin are both back from "a year off," during which they spent six months working on a kibbutz in Israel and six more travelling through the Middle East, Asia and Australia.

Also in Washington are Graeme Bell and his wife, Claudia Cooley (2126 Connecticut Ave., NW). Graeme is an attorney with Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue, after experience with a "quasi-public interest law firm specializing in American Indian legal problems." Claudia is a Division Director of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, and Graeme predicts, she's on her way to the top.

Al Ryan, our Class President, is out of the Marines and into private practice with Williams, Connolly & Califano in Washington. Sally, Mrs. Ryan now for eight years, takes care of 116 Eleventh St., SE and responsibilities as Associate Professor of Child Psychology at Catholic University.

Not all public interest legal practice takes place in the Capitol. Not by a long shot. Rod Thompson (29 Bayard Ave., Dover) is Law Clerk to a Superior Court Judge in Delaware . . . Jeff Rogers and Kris look at justice from both sides of the bar in Portland, Oregon. He's a criminal defense trial attorney with the Metropolitan Public Defender's Office, she's an Assistant U.S. Attorney. They're both farmers on their four acre spread, Route 2, Box 511, Portland 97231.

In Tuba City, Arizona, Robert Miller provides legal services to the poor on the Navajo Indian Reservation through DNA - People's Legal Services, Inc. Bob touts the clean air and relaxed pace of the west . . . Elsewhere in the west, Dick Blacklow is Deputy Prosecutor in King County, Seattle. And at night, when Dick returns to 1921 37th Place, he often watches his wife Julie, on television, as she reports the news for King Broadcasting.

There are public interest and government lawyers back east too. S. Michael Nadel is Assistant Counsel to Governor Carey of New York . . . In Massachusetts, Greg McGregor is Assistant Attorney General and Chief of the Division of Environmental Protection. Greg's also involved in teaching activities at Boston College Law School and Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, and is involved in family activities headquartered at 4 Brookfield Road, Wellesley, with Abby, Jennifer, 6, Douglas, 3 . . . Also in Boston, Ed Dailey is Counsel to the Health Services Rate Setting Commission and active in town affairs in Wrentham, Mass. Mary is busy tending to one year Meghan and 91 Harvard Lane.

In Manhattan, Ed Kuriansky continues as Asst. U.S. Attorney and has started a second career as interior designer, along with Judy, of a loft at 8 Thomas St. . . . Across the Hudson, Ben Cohen is Chief Attorney of the Appellate Section of the Essex County Prosecutor's Office. Joan, Dan, 2, and Amy, 5, are in charge of 36 Headley Place, Maplewood, N.J. 07040.

We're still on the lawyers. Here's two (or three) paragraphs more on attorneys and classmate around the country. Henry Clapper is a partner in Monroe & Clapper, Monett, Mo. (Nancy, Lori, 2, live at 819 Frisco Ave., Monett 65708). . . . Dan Zehner is a partner in Zehner & Zehner, with his Dad, in Salem, N.J. Joan, Dan and Zachary, 2, recently moved east from California, to RD#1, Halltown Road . . . Richard Tufaro (305 East 24th St.) is with Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McCloy, Manhattan . . . Richard Alderman is a partner in Alderman, Alderman, Samuels and Schepp, Syracuse. He, Maxene and Rachel, 2, live at 405 Henneberry Rd., in suburban Manlius . . . Bob Baird (4602 Staunton) is an attorney with Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally & Smith, Houston.

Al Singer has two boys, David, 3, and Peter, six months, a pretty wife, Alice, a house at 600 Ashworth Ave., Charlotte, N.C., and a position as Attorney with Weinstein, Sturges, Odom, Bigger & Jonas. . . . Chris Sanger is a partner with Tucker Flyer, Sanger, Reider & Lewis, Washington, and resides in Gaithersburg, Maryland, with Carolyn and two children (11712 Silent Valley Lane) The Rosenblatt's are busy in Minneapolis. Fred is a partner with Leonard, Street & Deinard. Cynthia, completing her second year at the U. of Minnesota Law School, has been elected to the Law Review. The address is 2114 Penn Avenue, South 55405). . . . Buzz Pratt has hung his shingle in Fryeburg, Maine, in a general law practice. Nancy has followed Buzz through four years in the Navy, BU Law School and a year's practice in North Conway, N.H. Doug, 5, and Becky, 1, have signed on along the way to 10 Smith Street.

We've got more lawyers than space, so let's take a look at our doctors.

The Doctors

Many classmates are getting good practical medical experience in the military. Win Stuebner is stationed at West Point, and doesn't seem to mind life with Jane, Eric, 4, and Andrew, 2, at 545A Winans Road, while he practices internal medicine Wally Hodges, Linda, and two daughters, Jessica and Alison, are at Munson Army Hospital, Ft. Leavenworth (10 Walker) Fort Knox is home for Mike Passero, Mary Ann and Michael Jr. Mike, like many of our military medical men, has completed formal training (in Mike's case in internal medicine and pulmonary diseases - allergy) and is serving two years under the Berry Plan.

Russell Sabrin is a Flight Surgeon in the Air Force stationed at Eglin AFB, Florida. His wife of one year, Carole, is a nurse who shared a year with Russ in Korea before transfer to the states. Russ will begin residency in Orthopedic Surgery this fall 28 Old Farm Rd., Topsham, Maine, is the address for Marilyn, Jennifer, 4, Emily, 2, and Bill Wilkoff, Medical Officer for the U.S. Navy at Brunswick, Maine This from Joel Mumford, Assistant Naval Medical Officer:

After four years in the Navy, the last two assigned to London, where I have been working in the Dispensary in the American Embassy, I shall be returning to civilian life in May. Life has been sweet, what with my gambolling through the watering spots of the United Kingdom and Northern Europe, now it is time to face reality and make the brave attempt to return to the academic fold. I shall be starting a residency in anesthesia in July at The Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, the rigors of which should be sufficient to addle my idle mind . . . for the next three years at least.

And, of course, we have non-military healers. Like Jim Byers who will join the faculty of the Medical College at the Univ. of Arizona, Tucson, after completing residency at Johns Hopkins this fall. Donna is a tax manager with Peat, Marwick & Mitchell & Co. in Tucson Dr. Bill Bailey is a post-doctoral fellow doing research on biochemicals & pharmaceuticals at Rockefeller University, New York City. Meg, Mimi, six months, and Bill live at 149-36 Cherry Ave., Flushing, 11355.

Phil Lepanto has completed residency in radiotherapy at Penn and will be staying on as a staff member until October when the Lepanto family returns to hometown Louisville to join the Radiotron Center there. Becky and Phil are expecting a second child, to join Philip, 2, this summer.

Bob Fritz is in the first of three years of a residency in Otolaryngology at the University of Colorado Medical Center, Denver. Germaine, and the two girls, Melissa, 3, and Jocelyn, five months, live at 1255 Bellaire St., 80220.

Dr. Joseph Michalski has completed a two-year Fellowship in Rheumatology and Immunology at the University of California Dr. Dan Wuensch is President of Rauch & Wuensch, an emergency medicine unit associated with the North Miami, Fla., General Hospital. Dan, Chaya, and their four children, Ephraim, 6, Aryeh, 2, Yosef, 1, and Basya, 4, live at 2729 N. Bay Road, Miami Beach, 33140 Dr. Pete Dorsen is in his second year residency in Internal Medicine at Hennepin County Medical Center, Minneapolis.
